and you should also let it be known that the white house observes one meatless day a week; a step of peace; it has a lot to do with common sense and seeing and reading what your followers have