studies also support using acupuncture to relieve pain that often happens when cancer has spread, particularly to the bones. Problems can create an enormous amount of stress and at the same time, stress experienced in another...